

BDA International Conference
and EXPO 2018

BDA International Conference & EXPO 2018

12th - 14th April 2018, Telford

The 11th British Dyslexia Association's International Conference (IC) and EXPO is a leading conference on Dyslexia/Specific Learning difficulties across the age ranges, for the latest in research and practice, exciting developments and inspiration.

The BDA are delighted to work with Professor Susan Gathercole (Cambridge University) as IC 2018 Chair and the International Conference committee as we build a great event. The conference theme of Evidence to Practice and Back Again will link research through to good practice and this Flagship event will present speakers, experts from across the world and professional practitioners.

We will also be providing even more hands on practical opportunities within our live demo zone. There will be our largest ever EXPO exhibition space featuring useful exciting materials and technologies, utilising the fantastic facilities available at the Telford International Centre.

Join us for what will be prove to be a lively and vibrant conference - view the timetable and book your place here!

New! Parents' & Carers' Day

This event will take place on Saturday at the International Conference and is aimed at parents and carers of young people with dyslexia and those who have a general interest in finding out more about this learning difference.

To discover more about Parents' and Carers' Day, please click here!

Want to exhibit at IC 2018?

The BDA's IC is a unique event that attracts delegates and organisations from around the world. The networking opportunities and international exposure companies can enjoy during the 3 day event is incredibly beneficial and provides a real legacy after conference.

Click here for more information on how to exhibit at the IC!

